

Title	Organic Seed Production
Code	3OG55NAK80M
Prerequisites
Description	The course will give general information, regarding variety and propagation material use in organic farming. Organic seed production methods of important vegetables and field crops will be presented. Students achieve methods of seed processing of horticultural and agricultural seeds. The students fulfilling the course requirements will be able to <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - get acquainted with the organic seed production systems of most produced crops - get acquainted with the regulation of seed production and organic farming - to comment critically on technologies and aims in organic seed production technology
Lecturer	Anna Divéky-Ertsey, László Csambalik
Semester	Fall	Contact hours/week	2+1
Level	MSc	ECTS	3
Teaching and Learning Methods:
Reading:	Bibliography: Recommended readings: Navazio J. (2012): The organic seed grower. Chelsea Green Publishing. White River Junction, Vermont (ISBN 978-1-933392-77-6)
Assessment:	Written and oral exam		